Lecompton

The following article from the Sacramento Union fully explains the political situation at Washington We publish it as a convincing reply to the Oregon Statesman's six columns of vile abuse, willful misrepresentations and vapid nonsense

When James Buchanan, to "conciliate the South" undertook to make Kansas a slave State by fraud and force, Republicans and Anti Lecompton Democrats combined to resist the shameful abuse of Executive power, and eventually demonstrated, to the satisfaction of the South aforesaid that its aims could no longer be secured by simply purchasing a President Hence the revolt and four years of bloody effort to subjugate or sunder the Union This desperate expedient proving a most costly failure, the subtle politicians who have managed to escape the penalty of treason and even get control of whole States within nine months after their defeat in the field, have resumed their old game, as their best available resource, retaining still "the unconquerable will and study of revenge" To get possession of a President who was elected as their direst enemy, to reconstruct the familiar machinery of the Democratic party, and with this powerful aid to advance from the control of the South to the entire Union were the objects proposed, and they have been pursued with a craft, a perseverance and a degree of success appalling to contemplate, now that the people are awaking to the nature and scope of the conspiracy. These astute deceivers have actually persuaded the President that they are honest and loyal, that they frankly and fully accept the decision of the sword, that they are better Union men now than the "radicals" of the North, and that while they are hunting down loyalists in Alabama and Mississippi and striving to substitute peonage for slavery, they are entitled to representation in Congress. So far as the freedmen were concerned, it was comparatively easy to withdraw them from Johnson's regard; he was a "poor white" himself, and the inveterate prejudice of his class against the race, though smothered during the war, was quickly rekindled. But we can imagine no argument that could convince a man of his antecedents and intelligence of the "loyalty" of the Southern delegations sent to Congress, except a promise of a nomination for the Presidency in 1868, for no man in the United States knows better than Andrew Johnson that the majority of the Congressmen elected in the reconstructed States were chosen because of their Confederate services—because they were not Union men So far as the President is concerned, it may be admitted that the managers of the Democratic party have gained their point. The next question is, can the Executive, working in the interest of the Confederate politicians, override Congress and Lecomptonize the whole Union? Assuredly not, if the Northern people are awake to their duty in this crisis, for the Union majority in Congress have taken their stand and will maintain their position unless otherwise instructed by their constituents Now, there are some timid, time-serving place seekers who are trying to cover the real issue and obtain a blind verdict by representing that the President and Congress differ upon the abstract question whether the Southern States are in or out of the Union The truth is, that though a few individuals have spoken in favor of treating the Southern States as Territories under martial law, the Congressional majority waived that point to please the President The root of the difficulty is the assumption of the Executive that he and he alone has the constitutional right to reconstruct State Governments, pass upon their legal sufficiency, and impose such conditions as he pleases, the power of Congress being limited to the recognition of the work thus performed, whether it be approved or condemned That is the position which Andrew Johnson has finally taken in his veto message If he is sustained, the legislative branch of the Government sinks into insignificance, and, practically, the American republic becomes an elective monarchy. On the opposite side, Congress claims the power to decide whether communities which for four years were waging war against the Union, and which have been subdued by the national arms, are in a condition to receive back the forfeited privilege of self government; whether the rights of loyal citizens of the United States can be safely enjoyed in the South, and whether new guarantees are not required to place this security of persons and property beyond doubt. The Reconstruction Committee was created to investigate and report. It decided that, besides the conditions imposed by the President, certain amendments to the Constitution and certain Acts of Congress were absolutely necessary to secure the peace of the Union and the liberty won by the war The President expresses his determination to prevent, if he can, Congress from taking any action on the subject until it shall accept his work as a finality As a big-headed usurpation and startling stretch of Executive power, such conduct ought to be resisted by every friend of representative government. But there is more in it than usurpation Why this excessive anxiety to force Confederate delegations into Congress? Why this persistent picturing of a satisfactory state of things in the South when Southern Unionists, from Nashville to Mobile, are sending a totally different picture to Washington? Why does the President venture to utter threats of crushing out loyalists, as he did in his speech to the Virginia rebels? Do not these signs point to a premeditated revival of the "Democratic" party, with Johnson in the place for which McClellan sold himself—a "loyal" alliance of the forces of Vallandigham and Davis, with Johnson at the head, to restore the "Union as it was," except the lost men and the lost treasure? Congress has the power, and at present has the will to defeat this political conspiracy by keeping the rebel wing of the "Democracy" out of the national councils; if sustained by the loyal people of the North it can go further, for the hesitating Senators will discover which way the wind blows, and by going with the majority facilitate the legislation required to protect liberty in the South and bring about the restoration of the Union upon an enduring basis of equal rights As for the Presidential temptation which the "Democrats" may offer, any one of the heroes of the Union army, standing on the platform of the loyal party, can defeat the aspirations of Andrew Johnson The duty of the present is to sustain Congress

BRANCH MINT —Mr. Holbrook, Delegate in Congress from Idaho, has introduced in the House the following preamble and resolution on the Branch Mint:

WHEREAS, The recent discoveries of the vast and extensive mineral fields of the interior, which the patient and laborious toil of miners has developed demonstrates that the deposits of precious metals in the Territory of Idaho are unsurpassed in richness and extent by those of any other country that it will take the continual labor of ages to exhaust and whereas the necessary delay, expense and danger attending the transportation of said precious metals a great distance for the purpose of coinage would be entirely removed by the construction of a United States Branch Mint, in the immediate vicinity of this great mineral centre would tend to a rapid and full development of the mineral resources and be of incalculable advantage and benefit to the inhabitants of that section of our country, as well as a source of revenue to the Government, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the committee on Mines and Mining be instructed to inquire into the expediency of changing the location of the United States Branch Mint from the Dalles in the State of Oregon, to Boise City, in the Territory of Idaho, and that they report by bill or otherwise

ANOTHER ENDORSEMENT OF JOHNSON.—The San Francisco Examiner, (Copperhead) Feb 22d, says

The news of Johnson's veto of the infamous Freedmen's Bureau Bill received in this city per overland telegraph, creates a decided sensation in San Francisco The Democracy are jubilant beyond expression, and flags were thrown out from the private residences of many Democrats. A special meeting of the Democratic County Central Committee was called at the rooms of the National Democratic Association, last evening, and a proposition to get up a Johnson jollification and ratification meeting on Monday evening next was unanimously passed A salute of one hundred guns will be fired on Monday evening and a general glorification will be indulged in by all those conservative men who are in favor of standing by the President in his conflict with the accursed Radicals in Congress

THE CONGRESSIONAL BILL TO REIMBURSE THE LOYAL STATES —The following is the bill introduced in the United States House of Representatives to reimburse the States that made advances and contracted debts in support of the late war:

SEC 1 —There shall be reimbursed to each of the loyal States a sum equal to dollars per each man duly enlisted and mustered from said States into the military or naval service of the United States during the late war, which number shall be determined by the records in the office of the provost marshal general.

SEC 2 The amount to be thus reimbursed shall be in bonds of the United States, bearing six per cent interest, payable semi-annually in lawful money, and redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after ten years from the date of issue and payable in thirty years

Section 3. Each State on the receipt of said bonds shall apply them, or their proceeds, in good faith as follows First, to the liquidation of whatever State debt may have been contracted in support of the war. Second, In an equitable manner to the reimbursement of counties, cities, towns, townships, and other municipal corporations, for advances made, or debts incurred in support of the war; and third, the residue, if there be any, in such a manner as the State Legislature may determine

Section 4 It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury to prepare said bonds, and deliver the same to the Treasurer of each State entitled to receive them, on or before the first day of A. D 1866, and the receipt of said bonds shall be in full liquidation and payment of all claims from said State growing out of the late war

NEGROES AND INDIANS PERMITTED TO TESTIFY. —At the last session of the Territorial Legislature, a bill was introduced and became a law, which provides "that no person, not otherwise disqualified, shall be incompetent as a witness in any action or proceeding, civil or criminal, before any court, officers, board or tribunal in this Territory by reason of having negro or Indian blood The jury, as in other cases, to judge of the credibility of all such witnesses The parties who were immediately present at the killing of Patterson are colored men, and under this law they will be permitted to testify at the trial of the murderer. [illegible] have always regarded the practice that existed of testimony on account of color, as of questionable policy In slave States, where the negro was exclusively under the control of his master, there was a pretext for the exclusion, but nothing of the kind obtains in a country where slavery is prohibited —*W. OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE.

THURSDAY MORNING, MARCH 8, 1866.

UNION STATE CONVENTION.

The voters of the several counties of Oregon who have been and are in favor of maintaining the supremacy of the Union, the Constitution and the laws of the United States, against all opposition, are respectfully invited to hold Conventions according to the usual custom, for the election of Delegates to a Union State Convention, to be held at Corvallis on the 29th day of March, 1866, for the purpose of nominating candidates for Governor, Member of Congress, Secretary of State, State Treasurer and State Printer. We respectfully recommend the holding of County Conventions throughout the State on Saturday, the 17th day of March, 1866, at which time Delegates to the State Convention can be selected. It is also recommended that the precinct meetings be held on Saturday, the 10th day of March. Delegates to the State Convention from each Judicial District, assembled at the time of holding said Convention, will nominate candidates for Judge and Prosecuting Attorney, where vacancies exist.

The several counties are entitled to send Delegates to the State Convention as follows:

I. R. MOORES,
Chairman Union State Central Committee.
W. C. WATSON, Secretary.

Not Vengeance, but National Security.

It has often been said that if Jefferson Davis and other principal traitors are not to suffer death for their crimes against law, order, and humanity, capital punishment should be forever abolished. Justice, every one must own, does undoubtedly demand that those who have wilfully violated the laws and who entered into a conspiracy which falls within the exact definition of treason against the United States, should receive the proscribed penalty. But it is argued with great force by many who have the utmost abhorrence of treason, that in view of the peculiar circumstances attending the late attempt to divide the Union, and in consideration of the final triumph of the Government, the death penalty should be remitted in the case of all who have offended against established authority. Now we do not suppose there are any who think that the hanging of a few of the most guilty of the actors in the late rebellion is necessary to the completion of our victory and the preservation of the Government. Nobody supposes that the release of the few offenders now in confinement would jeopardize the safety of the country. But it ought to be established in some way that rebellion is a crime. Strict justice may demand the execution of Jefferson Davis and his associates in treason; but after all this may not be the better course. In view of their offence, we would not protest against their being capitally [illegible], nor would the country generally ask that they might be relieved from the consequences of their wrong. But while we would be willing to let justice and law take their course in this, as in other cases, we do not clamor for the blood even of the most guilty. We do not call for vengeance. There is no class of men who would [illegible] over the whole land. None are [illegible] by that delirium of vengeful feeling which [illegible] lead to the commission of excesses calculated to bring reproach upon our civilization and tarnish the American name. For the hundreds of the recognized leaders of the rebellion, civil and military, there is a mode of punishment perfectly just and appropriate, entirely effectual, and not obnoxious to the charge of cruelty or inhumanity. It does not savor of vengeance, but it is dictated by ordinary prudence and a common regard for the national safety. The men who led the rebellion should be placed under certain political disabilities either perpetually, or for periods proportioned to their services in the cause of treason.

A [illegible] of this kind would be the best [illegible] for the future which the Government [illegible] impose. It would be the extreme of leniency. Men who rebelled against the Government and [illegible] the consequences, would have no right to think it a hardship to be held under a restriction like this. To be permitted to live in quiet under the protection of the country whose laws they have trampled upon, would be a privilege as far [illegible] their deserts as the magnanimity of a powerful and [illegible] Government can exceed their own base ingratitude.

The importance of a law providing against the admission into Congress, at any future time, of those who have been engaged in active rebellion, is too obvious for argument. It is absolutely necessary to future harmony and peace. When we talk about requiring guarantees from the late [illegible], we have especial reference to the perpetual exclusion of leading rebels from the national legislature. Loyal men not only have a right to require this, but it is their imperative duty to require it. It is due to the country to make this distinction between loyalty and treason.

Of course it will be charged that the proposed measure is but a device to perpetuate the rule of the party now in power. Such remarks come with [illegible] propriety from those who are unable to see the difference between the mere opposition of one political party to another, and armed rebellion against the Government. It is a part of the same error which inculcates the idea that the Southern rebellion, because it grew out of political disputes, was not a wrong. There is no fear among the Northern majority of the Southern minority; but there is a rational fear lest the Southern traitors may unite with the more pernicious of the Northern [illegible] Copperheads—than whom not more violent [illegible] exist—and bring irretrievable ruin on the country. These two wings of the party were violently divorced some time ago, and will now naturally desire to be reunited. We know what their former offspring was, and may [illegible] have some apprehensions about the character of their new progeny. The mother of treason can always propagate rebellion.

GOT AN IDEA.—The editor of the Lafayette Courier has heard of the veto and has read the President's crapulent speech to a Democratic assemblage before the White House. The Courier man is infinitely pleased, and like Touchstone, "unmuzzles his wisdom" as follows:

> It is gratifying in the extreme to note the determined character of Mr. Johnson's late speech to the assembled multitude in Washington City. He plainly avows what the party that elected him has always stoutly denied, to wit: that there was a party from the outset at the North, as bent and determined upon the disruption of the Union, as ever existed in the South.

We expected to see that stale slander of the President's about "Northern traitors" taken up and circulated by the Copperhead press. The Courier has found its opportunity—has struck an idea. It has high authority for saying that the North is disloyal, and will dwell with delight on the slanderous allegation.

A little junta of Confederate Democrats who were not included among those surrendered at Richmond, got together at Eola the other day and solemnly resolved that whether they give their full approval to the administration of President Johnson, depends on whether he will "execute the law, the whole law and nothing but the law."

Why, you poor, deluded Confederates, if he should do what the law would justify, he would deprive you of half your Democratic leaders, by hanging them. The law is the last thing in the world that you should crave.

> Did anti-Democracy in nine years, or Democracy in fifty-five, make our Government what it was in 1860?—Review.

It was Democracy in four years—during the traitor Buchanan's term. Anti-Democracy and Union armies have been about five years administering correctives.

State Items.

A Mr. Kenworthy is about to start a brewery at Lafayette.

A shop at the Dalles is manufacturing freight wagons for the road to the mines, each of which will carry 10,000 pounds.

Clackamas and Clatsop counties have each called Union county conventions, as recommended by the State Central Committee.

The firm of Upton & Bowman, of the Lafayette Courier, has "dissolved," Bowman retiring, while Upton goes marching on.

The Mountaineer is of the opinion that a very late spring is probable, east of the mountains. Snow still remains on the bluffs adjacent to the Dalles.

G. W. Lawson, late member of the Legislature from Yamhill, has been for several days in town. He informs us that he is about to leave that county, but has not decided on a future location.

Three children of the Rev. Lewis Thompson of Clatsop Plains, narrowly escaped drowning last Friday evening, by the upsetting of a canoe, in which they were amusing themselves. They were rescued by a Mr. Davis, who fortunately heard their cries of distress, though at considerable distance.

It will be noticed by a reference to our advertising columns, that a clothing manufactory is about to be established at Oregon City. While we manufacture so much cloth in the State, it is to be regretted that most of our ready-made clothing is purchased from makers elsewhere. We are glad to see steps taking to supply this and similar wants, by home industry.

Quite a number of the citizens of the upper counties have been in town this week, attending as jurymen in the U. S. District Court. Yesterday the steamers brought down heavy reinforcements of visitors. "Everybody and his wife" seem to be on a grand spree of travel. Several people went away on the ocean steamers, just because they couldn't bear to see passage going so cheap without buying some of it.

The accounts of discoveries of valuable mines in Jackson county, of which the papers are now making frequent mention, leads to the hope that that part of the State is to enjoy again something of its old-time prosperity. It is within the memory of the older settlers of Oregon that the mining districts on our southern border were, at one time, the most important in the State. We congratulate them upon their decidedly improved prospects.

Washington Territory.

A company is in process of formation at Olympia, which proposes to erect a woolen factory. It will have at Tumwater a magnificent water power.

The Olympians have adopted the somewhat fashionable method of educating the million—Public Lectures. A course is in progress at the present time.

Judge Wyche, of Washington Territory, recently had occasion to publish a letter in the papers, defending himself against the charge of being unduly absent from his duties. This is not a new charge against the Federal officials of Washington Territory. The most of them have made one or more pilgrimages to Washington City, and great complaint has been made of neglect of duty. The same complaints have been entered quite generally from other Territories. So frequent have the absences become that some curative measure is thought necessary, and a bill is now pending in Congress to prevent the absence of Territorial officers from their duties. It was introduced by Senator Williams, of Oregon.

WHO COMPOSED OUR ARMIES?—The Boston Pilot publishes a long article reiterating endlessly that a very large number of the soldiers of our late armies—at least forty per cent. of the whole—were foreigners, the greater portion of whom were Irishmen. Now there were many Irishmen in the army, and their adopted country highly appreciated their services; but to say that they amounted to even five per cent. of the men lately in arms is to assert a very foolish thing. There is not a man in the country but who personally knows dozens and hundreds of our young men—Americans—who joined the armies of their country. Not one of us but who has heard that nearly all the playmates of his boyhood responded to the call of their country and went to the war. The western armies were composed almost entirely of young men who were born and reared upon the western prairies, and the armies of the eastern States, except a portion of such regiments as were recruited in the large cities, contained an equal proportion of native Americans. The majority of the foreigners among us—the Germans excepted—if not actually disloyal, opposed the war for the Union. Their votes generally were cast with the disloyal party. It is true that there were many honorable exceptions to this rule among other classes of foreigners; and the country will forever be grateful to such of her adopted citizens as sustained her in her great struggle. But the mourning that is everywhere apparent in the homes of our countrymen, shows who bore the brunt of the battle. Americans do not speak of this with a desire to extol themselves or depreciate the services of others. As Americans they have done only their duty. It is but fitting that republicanism in America should have been saved mainly by the efforts of the native citizens of republican America.

We heartily concur in the subjoined advice to Union men from the Albany Journal:

> Let the precinct meetings and conventions ignore all abstractions and meet upon the broad platform of Freedom, Union, and opposition to traitors. Frown down every attempt to bring up distracting side issues, and let us give Copperheadism its final death blow.

The Copperheads inherit the full spirit of the "Artful Dodger," and will play you more tricks than you can well circumvent without a rigid resolution to stand by the cardinal principles upon which the Union party was founded, and upon which it has has supported a successful war against rebels and Copperheads—the twin enemies of the Government. We go in, decidedly, for the "death blow."

The Sun River excitement is said to have arisen in this wise: Hugh McClellan, of McClellan Gulch notoriety, having taken unto his bosom an aboriginal belle, retired to spend the delusive four weeks that ordinarily follow the commission of matrimony, at Sun River. Being absent so long, his friends thought he had found a good thing and, the news spreading, the report caused the stampede. The results are a good many frostbitten and disappointed men, and very slight, if any, returns in the shape of dust.

If Andy Shuck is the man you are apostrophizing and interrogating, we think we can answer. Judging from the "literatoor," he has been editing the Courier.

Some of the interior journals of California complain that the San Francisco papers are extremely dull, and look forward hopefully to the time when another earthquake will enliven things.

The Confederate Democrat is now praising Johnson almost as loudly as it used to abuse him. Like Paine, the Democrat is trying to unpay in current repentance the villiping it has done.

NO TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.—The line was out of order yesterday south of Yreka, and up to a late hour last night had not been repaired. Hence we have no Eastern news.

Dr. DeWolf, who made himself very notorious in Salem, a few years ago, and afterward at Olympia, is lecturing in San Francisco, on his old hobby.

> The Salem (Oregon) Review has changed hands. Changing hands without changing politics won't save it.—S. F. Flag.

The State of the South—Letter from Governor Brownlow.

The following letter from Gov. Brownlow, of Tennessee, is published. It will be seen that while he favors the admission of the Tennessee members into Congress, he advises against the admission of those of the other revolted States. He says too, that Tennessee begs to be left unprotected if the troops are to be withdrawn as a result of the admission of her Congressmen. Brownlow's words give a fearful picture of the state of the South. It is a result which has naturally followed the President's plan of reconstruction:

NASHVILLE, January 16, 1866.

The Hon. Schuyler Colfax—Dear Sir: Your letter of the 9th instant was received last evening, and I am glad to have an opportunity to set myself right, as it regards the admission of the Tennessee delegation to their seats. You understand me correctly, and represent me properly. I am decidedly in favor of admitting the Tennessee delegation, and have so expressed myself in all my private and published letters, as well as in my messages to the Legislature.

Tennessee occupies a different and better position than any of the States that participated in the rebellion; and her representatives should not be placed on the same footing with those of Virginia, the Carolinas, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, etc. Tennessee amended her Constitution, declared her slaves free, elected a loyal Governor and Legislature under the administration of the lamented Lincoln; and as a tribute to his memory the State ought to be restored to the Union. The Tennessee delegation, as a whole, are loyal, can take the required oath, and would, if in their seats, add to the strength of the Union party. Tennessee was allowed to furnish the candidate for the Vice-Presidency on the Republican ticket, and now furnishes the President. Tennessee continued to be partially represented in both branches of Congress for two years after the war was commenced, and she furnished, in all, 35,000 soldiers for the Union armies. The Tennessee representatives ought to be admitted as an act of justice to the loyal Tennesseeans who stood by the country all through the rebellion, and as a tribute to the joint labors of Lincoln and Johnson in restoring the State to the Union. Finally, they ought to be admitted as a means of preventing a rupture between Congress and the President, which, for the sake of the country, ought to be avoided. The President ought to be satisfied with the admission of the Tennessee delegates to their seats, and I have no doubt would be.

Standing upon a different footing altogether, it does not follow that if the Tennesseeans are admitted, the representatives from other States lately in rebellion must come in also. Not a man a nth of Tennessee should be admitted until those States manifest less of the spirit of rebellion and elect a more loyal set of men, and men who can take the Congressional test oath, which but few of those elected can do.

If the removal of the Federal troops from Tennessee must necessarily follow up the admission of our Congressional delegation from their seats, why, then, and in that case, the loyal men of Tennessee beg to be without representatives in Congress. But our members can be admitted, and a military force retained sufficient to govern and control the rebellious. I tell you, and through you, all whom it may concern, that without a law to disfranchise rebels, and a force to carry out the provisions of that law, this State will pass into the hands of the rebels, and a terrible state of affairs is bound to follow. Union men will be driven from the State, forced to sacrifice what they have, and seek homes elsewhere. And yet, Tennessee is in a much better condition than any of the revolted States, and affords a stronger loyal population.

Those who suppose the South is "reconstructed," and that the people cheerfully accept the results of the war, are fearfully deceived. The whole South is full of the spirit of rebellion, and the people are growing more bitter and insolent every day. Rebel newspapers are springing up all over the South, and speaking out in terms of bitterness and reproach against the Government of the United States. These papers lead the people and at the same time reflect their sentiments and feelings. Of the twenty-one papers in Tennessee, fourteen are decidedly rebel, outspoken and undisguised, some of them pretending to acquiesce in the existing state of affairs. In all the vacancies occurring in our Legislature, even with our franchise law in force, rebels are invariably returned, and in some instances rebel officers, limping from wounds received in battle, fighting against the United States forces. And yet, I tell you that Tennessee is in a better condition than any other revolted State.

Others will give you a more favorable account. I cannot in justice to myself and the truth. I think I know the Southern people. I have lived fifty-eight years in the South, from choice, and two at the North, of necessity. I have the honor to be very, truly, etc.,

W. G. BROWNLOW, Governor, etc.

A MISERABLE QUIBBLE.—The Government organ at Salem publishes the names of several distinguished Union men of the State, who, as it says, unhesitatingly sustain the President. Will these gentlemen, or the journal which has undertaken to speak for them, declare that they unqualifiedly condemn Congress for taking the position it holds? The shoddy paper will not dare to publish their names in connection with such an avowal. Not one of those gentlemen will declare, as the Federal organ has done, that Congress has abandoned the Union party. Nor will one of them publish a statement, as the poor tool who edits that venal sheet has done, to the effect that he will go for Johnson against Congress and all who may disapprove of the course the President has taken.

DEPARTURE OF A SOUTHERN COLONY TO BRAZIL.—The Mobile Register announces the departure of Major Hastings and his colony for Brazil via New Orleans. The emigrants were once among the most wealthy citizens. The Register deplores their departure, and says bitterly:

> Yet we are consoled by the reflection that it is in consequence of no act of ours, but the natural and inevitable result of causes over which we have no control—the illegitimate offspring of the criminal alliance, long since existing between vandalic cupidity, and blind, nefarious fanaticism.

> "The people" elected him (Taylor) over the venerable Lewis Cass, the Democratic candidate in 1848.—Review.

The issue has been between the people and the Democracy ever since, and the people have been getting rather the best of it for the last five years. One of the Democratic chieftains surrendered on the 9th of April and another was captured in crinoline on the 10th of May, 1865.

MEETING OF THE COMMON COUNCIL.—The regular weekly meeting of the City Council was held last evening at 8 o'clock, Mayor Falling presiding.

The following members were present: Messrs. Gilmore, Lowndale, McCraken, Plummer, Strowbridge, and Watkins.

The records of the previous meeting were read and approved.

A petition signed by sundry citizens of the First Ward, asking that the city provide for filling up a portion of A street, which is breeding a pestilence, was referred to the committee on streets and public property.

Petition of Ald. Miller to have the assessment on his [illegible] property reduced, was referred.

A communication from the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, relative to needed improvements at the house of company No. 2, was received and referred to the fire and water committee, with discretionary powers.

The report of the City Recorder for the month of February, showing $176 65 in fees due the Recorder and Marshal, and $391 45 in money received for the month, was ordered to be placed on file.

Warrants were authorized in payment of claims against the city as follows: B. Patlock, rent of House No. 4 for February, $30; Gas Light Company, gas for 33 street lamps, lighting same, and for Council Chamber during month of February, $373 30; Water Company, water during February, $50; H. L. Hoyt, fees in Recorder's Court for month of February, $177 75, keeping city prisoners, $30; killing 17 dogs, $34; J. J. Hoffman, fees as City Recorder month of February, $196 90; S. Simmons, team furnished for public plaza, $35; J. F. McCoy, acknowledgments to tax deeds, $11 50; John Nicholson, repairs to dredger's boat, $7; steamer Fannie Troup, towing dredger, etc., $[illegible].

An Ordinance to change the grade of Sherman and Caruthers streets, at the intersection of the McAdamized road, [illegible]. Provides for the height of Sherman street at 41 feet above the base of grade, and Caruthers street at 3-10th feet above.

An Ordinance appropriating the sum of $5,000 to the fund for the [illegible]ment of the navigation of the Willamette river, passed.

On motion of Mr. Lowndale warrants were ordered to be placed in the hands of the City Marshal for the collection of delinquent [illegible] for the improvement of Washington street, except block 213.

On motion the Ordinance providing for the cleaning of [illegible] was ordered published in the OREGONIAN for one week.

[illegible] the Council adjourned.

A WORD ABOUT POULTRY.—A coop of turkeys received yesterday by the Alert was sufficient to call down upon the [illegible] the epithets usually expressive of disgust by the [illegible] admirer of this gallinacious fowl, whose flesh [illegible] the most delicious food. The coop was a [illegible] of boards, hardly sufficient for the safe keeping of a [illegible] chicken, and the fowls appeared to be living a most [illegible] life, cramped and confined in the most miserable pen. We presume the shipper had an idea that by [illegible] the five fowls into that narrow space he [illegible] save four bits on freight, but in this he [illegible], as no steamboat company or corporation for the [illegible] of freight, has such narrow souls in these parts, as to "measure" coops of fowls, and charge accordingly, when brought to market. In order that all [illegible] may know the fact, we will [illegible] it costs no more to furnish good coops, large enough [illegible] the poultry living comfortably, than [illegible] death, and by giving the fowls room [illegible] condition for sale—otherwise they are [illegible]. There are many such little matters as this that the public would do well to look into, in making [illegible] of live poultry for the table, in order to [illegible] buying a feverish, or ill [illegible] fowl. No poultry [illegible] food that is inhumanly kept.

[illegible].—A Washington letter says: A public sale of [illegible] of the Dead Letter Bureau took [illegible] two since. Without [illegible] to light, which can be seen [illegible] mention two curious ones that I [illegible]. One was a letter containing a check for $8,000 in gold, directed to a lady in New York, [illegible] "to accept the enclosed as a return for [illegible] my father and mother," dated at the [illegible] signed "John," who was to start [illegible]. The letter not reaching the lady [illegible] Letter Office. The Postmaster-General [illegible] his deputy at New York to institute a thorough [illegible] the lady, who at last found her, and [illegible] to the Department, very naturally [illegible] John had evidently more cash than brains." [illegible] letter from Idaho, containing $200,000 in United [illegible] a banker in New York, who had [illegible] arrived. Of [illegible] being finally sent to the Dead Letter Office.

[illegible] EXPLAINED.—Much has been [illegible] the beauties of the Aurora Borealis. [illegible] were one night last week treated to a [illegible], and the press of the Bay is [illegible] what has been seen in the same line at [illegible]. An editor in Illinois thus describes the [illegible] phenomenon: "When meteorological [illegible] of the horizon is such as to calorificise the [illegible] of the hemispheric analogy, the [illegible] surcharged with [illegible], thereby deprived of their natural [illegible], a rapid change is produced [illegible] of the [illegible] polarium, which [illegible] in the [illegible] of the [illegible]. The clouds then become a [illegible] "speculum of [illegible] light, which [illegible]."

[illegible].—The [illegible] says "It is a [illegible] individuals do not endeavor [illegible] traffic between these [illegible] and we heartily [illegible]. The [illegible] of [illegible] by not being allowed to [illegible] the Thames, or some other [illegible] would have been [illegible] this. [illegible] a "way place," out of the way of foreign trade. There is not in this city so much as a pair of [illegible], belonging to Government, by which the cargo can be measured, and yet it is the [illegible] here, in [illegible] Bottoms, [illegible] What has [illegible] of the [illegible] country be extended to Portland?

[illegible] E. D. SHATTUCK, J.—March 7th, 1866. Wells, [illegible], J. P. O. [illegible], Administrator. [illegible] warrants [illegible] at the Plaintiff [illegible] and [illegible] vs. Weinhard and [illegible] confirmed and money distributed [illegible] with the [illegible]. Jefferay, Brennan. [illegible] sale of property in Clatsop County, [illegible] in 1859.....White vs. [illegible]. Decree [illegible] to convey [illegible] vs. Wells, Fargo & Co. Set for trial to-day.

[illegible].—A London paper publishes a description of a certain invention, designed to catch [illegible]. The [illegible] in no [illegible] contrivances, in [illegible] of the secret arrangement, to force open the door, [illegible] the safe, thus by so doing [illegible] to the nearest police office, [illegible] of the safe he is attacking, and this [illegible] in the police books, has opposite it the address of the house in which the robbery is being effected.

PACK ANIMALS.—A very large train of pack animals [illegible] through the city yesterday en route for the upper country. We [illegible] that the stock of horses for sale in this valley is not large, and the mountaineer advises intending [illegible] to watch for chances to purchase, as after [illegible] on their journey, they will have to go to Walla Walla, where there are large herds of [illegible] and pretty fair [illegible] to buy to advantage.

[illegible].—[illegible] were several teams of horses [illegible] in the streets of this city yesterday. THE ROADS—INDIANS—STEAMERS—TRAINS.

The subjoined items are copied from the Walla Walla Statesman of March 2d:

Mr. H. Bledsoe, messenger of Wells, Fargo & Co., arrived from the Upper country, six days from Boise City. He reports the roads in good condition for traveling all the way, with only 25 miles of sleighing (on the Blue mountains) over a hard road. The weather at Boise City was pleasant in daytime and cold during the night. The streets were dry and dusty. Very cold weather in Boise Basin. Roads were open to Owyhee, and the indomitable Hill Beachy was driving his own stage through to Ruby in one day's time, in spite of the Indians and elements. The steamer being built at the mouth the Boise river by the O. S. N. Co., was waiting for some part of the machinery which was enroute. When it arrives she will be ready to run in four weeks. A party of twenty men left the Weiser river on the 22d ult., to scout for Indians down on the Snake river at or near Brownlee's ferry. The Indians had stolen some stock from them lately, and some horses from Miller of Boise river. Mr. Henry Greenhouse will start a train of one hundred saddle horses and sixty wagons for Blackfoot country, on the 10th of March to 1st of April, in three trains, carrying about thirty passengers to each train. He expects to make the trip from Boise City in fifteen or eighteen days. To parties wishing to make a quick trip, at the earliest practicable time, this will be a good opportunity. Saddle trains leave first, the wagons to follow. There are several other trains to leave for the same place about the same time. Passage $80. Snow was going off very slowly along the entire route from here to Boise, thawing a little every day and freezing at night. The first pack-train of the season passed down Burnt river on the 22d, bound for Boise City. The balance of the machinery for the Snake river steamer started across the Blue mountains on sleighs on the 24th.

The World of the 24th ult., contains the following:

THE JORDAN VALLEY INDIAN RAID.

SILVER CITY, I. T., Feb. 19, 1866.

FRIEND STREET:—You have no doubt heard of the late raid in Jordan valley, by the Indians, and the attack upon Mr. A. Hall of that place. I was at his place on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. I think he will recover although he received a dangerous wound in the abdomen. There were about thirty Indians who made the attack Tuesday, at 11 o'clock P. M., and drove away 37 head of cattle and nine horses. There were five men in the house at the time. Thirty-seven soldiers from Camp Lyon started Thursday morning in pursuit. A company of citizen volunteers have started out.

Two Indians were probably killed at Hall's, one by Mr. H., and the other by Mr. Killingswork, who shot his man while he was in the act of firing the house, which was covered with grass.

On Saturday night Reynold's Creek Valley was cleaned out by the red devils. The particulars I have not heard, excepting that Hill Beachy lost some of his stock; also a man was shot in the arm, not dangerously, on Crow creek, and his team taken from him. H—l is to pay generally in this country.

While writing this I am informed by R. Tregaskis, that a large band of 150 or 200 Indians were seen on the Bruno or Middle river, two or three days ago. Six men were over in that region, and came upon the Indians unawares. The white men stayed with the Indians that night. They offered no violence to the whites.

Yours respectfully, O. H. PURDY.

P. S.—Since writing the above, I have heard from the "seat of war." The soldiers who made the raid on Jordan valley, on the night of February 14th, have overtaken the Indians and captured all the stock but two horses and killed one or two Indians. They were overtaken on the Owyhee river, fought a running fight of three or four hours. The Indians fought like devils.

OFFICIAL MATTERS.

We understand Gov. Lyon has appointed Frank Kenyon, Esq., Territorial Printer, and that Mr. Kenyon and Mr. Gilson have gone to San Francisco to have the journals and statutes published in book form. Mr. Howlett is acting Secretary of the Territory in Mr. Gilson's absence.

INDIAN FIGHT—"LO" GETS CLEANED OUT.

We are indebted to Mr. Joseph Pinkham of Umatilla for a copy of the Boise Statesman Extra, containing the follow account of a fight with the Indians on Jordan Creek, Owyhee:

Hill Beachey's Owyhee stage arrived this afternoon at five o'clock, with the following cheering news from Capt. Walker. Mr. Beachey did not go over to Ruby on this trip, but received the following letters by express. Passengers who came over from Ruby corroborate the news, and say that it is generally believed there. Capt. Walker took only fourteen days rations with him, and that time expired yesterday. This information explains why he has not returned. He appears to have made a very clean sweep of the camp, with the loss of one man:

OFFICE WELLS, FARGO & Co.,
Ruby City, Feb. 25th, 1866.

HILL BEACHEY—Dear Sir: Childs, the Government express messenger, arrived this evening, and reports that a messenger arrived at Camp Lyon this morning with the news that on last Thursday Captain Walker came across a camp of Indians about twenty miles from the Owyhee Ferry, at the mouth of Jordan creek, and charging it left twenty-six Indians dead on the ground. It is supposed that one made his escape. Twenty of the Indians were bucks, who fought desperately, killing one man and slightly wounding a drummer boy, name not remembered.

In charging the camp six women and children were accidentally killed, but this could not be helped, owing to the desperate defense made by the Indians.

Capt. Walker sent to Camp Lyon for horses, having used up and killed nine of his own on the march, and will be with his entire command at Camp Lyon this evening or to-morrow morning.

It is reported that he took eighteen head of stock—particulars not known.

The Owyhee Volunteers, not being able to get horses, have gone on to Hall's ranch afoot, and are determined to get after Mr. Indian.

Yours, BROWNE.

We also append the following letter from Ruby City as a matter of interest to our Ada County Company, and as explaining the necessity of their going to the support of the Owyhee Volunteers as soon as possible:

RUBY CITY, Feb. 26, 1866.

HILL BEACHEY, Esq.—Dear Sir: As Chairman of the Committee to collect supplies for our volunteers, I write to inform you that the boys left Hall's ranch this morning for the forks of the Owyhee—distance thirty miles from the ranch—where they expect to find the Indians in force and prepared to fight. If you succeed in raising a company at Boise City, hurry them along to Camp Lyon, at which point they can communicate with our company at the forks of the Owyhee. It is very probable that our boys will need reinforcements as soon as they can be obtained, as they number only thirty men. If you get up a company that will take the field at once, please notify me and I will send the word to our men that you are coming. Respectfully yours, J. A. LYTLE.

NEGLECTED COUGHS AND COLDS.—Very few are aware of the importance of checking a Cough or "Common Cold" in its first stage. That which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon preys upon the lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or COUGH LOZENGES, afford instant relief.

It is sufficient commendation that he is endorsed as a Dentist of Superior Skill and a Gentleman by Messrs. R. H. McDONALD & CO., DR. COLE, Dentist, and many others of San Francisco.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated

PLANTATION BITTERS,

Which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities, and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and must supercede all other tonics where a healthy, gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.

They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars, see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in Bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

As an additional inducement, the Company will, on surrender of such policy, issue a paid-up policy for an equitable sum, which they will guarantee SHALL EXCEED the proportionate amount.

For instance, on surrender of a policy for $10,000 (other amounts in the same proportion,) on which the premiums are payable in ten annual instalments, the Company will issue a PAID-UP POLICY which they will guarantee

It has been clearly proven that there is no way of investing where amounts are paid in small installments in so safe and advantageous a manner—and bring in as large returns as in an Endowment Policy in this Company. They are also [illegible] to be considered an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY by Merchants and others—for aside from a Life Insurance, it constitutes the finest form of collateral to have by them, upon which to borrow or convert into cash in cases of emergency.

The Robbery of Mr Adams

We copy from the S F Flag the following letter from Mr Adams, giving an account of the late robbery of the Government funds which were under his care

OCCIDENTAL HOTEL SAN FRANCISCO }
February 22 1866 }

MR EDITOR —It is now twelve days since I reached this city having been robbed on board the steamship Oregon of $20,500 in United States gold coin, which I had collected on imports in the District of Oregon and which in accordance with instructions from the Department in Washington I was bringing to deposit with the Assistant Treasurer in San Francisco The money was taken from my trunk in my state room, the thief entering my room during my absence for a short time, by unlocking the door and entering my trunk by prying a portion of the bottom and unlocking the trunk, as I suppose, by pushing the bolt of the lock back with his fingers, as I afterwards learned from the detectives could be done My room I found locked as usual, and the cord around my trunk properly tied I had no suspicions that my trunk had been disturbed till I arrived at the Russ House very soon after the landing of the Oregon, and opened the same to deposit the money in a safe, when I discovered that out of $17,500 in gold, $4,717 in greenbacks $35 in demand notes, Government money in my trunk, besides some currency belonging to me, of which I had no memorandum of the precise amount, $20,500 in gold had been taken I immediately notified the Police Detectives, and have since been engaged in rendering every assistance in my power to enable them to ferret out the guilty parties; Shocked and mortified as I was on discovering the loss of the money, I very soon learned that I was to suffer a still sorer punishment, as I and some of my friends were not long in discovering that a powerful influence was set on foot in a short time after the robbery became public, to create the impression that I was a villain and had not been robbed of a dollar The magnitude of that influence, the untiring zeal with which it hunted me down, and its success in doing me mischief, has been abundantly shown by the remarks that have been made by certain parties on the streets, by the uncandid, uncalled for and unjust articles which have appeared in one of the prints of this city, and a villainous libelous editorial in another. If these men had desired to know the truth, they could have obtained it from the detectives, who were the only parties except myself, and those who committed the robbery, who have the means of knowing to a certainty that the robbery was actually committed The detectives—Capt. Lees, Ellis, and Watkins could have told them, as they have often told me and several prominent and worthy men of this city and of Oregon, that they had arrived at evidence during a most thorough investigation that "proved beyond all possibility of a doubt that the robbery was committed," as I alleged. Some of these men have assured me and others that they were just as well assured from what their investigation has developed, that I had been foully robbed, as though they had seen the robbery committed. These men have been forced into the belief by examining the whole case in the face of an influence that has failed to extort a condemnation of me from that quarter. Yet I find the Alta after having published an exceedingly uncandid article in relation to the robbery on the 11th inst, speaks of it yesterday as "the robbery—if any was committed." The News Letter of the 17th has a characteristic article which it seems to me is rather injudicious for an editor who has an earnest desire to benefit those under whose table he is allowed to gather crumbs. He discourses as follows:

"The detectives find that Adams is more prudent with his private funds, a certificate of deposit or some other evidence for $20,000 by draft through Richards & McCraken in his favor evidently showing that Adams was providing for a rainy day, etc."

I have no idea it will be any new information to this poor devil, but it may be to the public, to state that these drafts on the Bank of California [illegible] to the Government, and that the money was drawn and deposited with Mr. Cheeseman at the earliest possible moment after my arrival—Detective Watkins at my earnest request, going with me both to the bank and to the Assistant Treasurer's office. In publishing the following, I fear Pariah's successor did so without having duly weighed its effect upon the cause he seems so zealous to advance the interests of:

"From all that we have heard, Adams is quite able to reimburse the Government. His residence in Astoria is palatial for the webfoot section, being commodious; the architecture unique; the grounds in keeping with the quiet style of its occupant, the doors red with green borders, the [illegible] ornamented with the fountain that lately [illegible] the piazza, showing that brother Adams is not without refined taste. The various occupations of collector Adams, gospel doctor, school teacher, politician, and, at present, collector, speak volumes for the versatility of his genius He is the Autocrat of Astoria; the Republican [illegible], members of the Legislature, are all under his control; not even the daring and wealthy [illegible] pilots of the Columbia river bar are beyond his reach. His genius has extended to an [illegible] with the Washington Territory Legislature, where he had an Act passed taking away from the pilots the right to pursue their profession to the detriment of the commerce of Astoria.

"As an intensely loyal man, brother Adams is [illegible] equal. As a Collector of the Customs, none so zealous, vigilant and efficient. During his incumbency of four years he has seized three steamships (in addition to the fines of the officers) for 'slight causes,' that in any other port would have been passed without notice. Not being satisfied with the seizure of the steamers, his loyal blood warms with the discovery that the company owning the steamers are Secessionists, and to this effect he writes to the Secretary of the Treasury. For all this zeal of Brother Adams, should the Secretary put the slightest confidence in his report, he will receive the insignificant sum of the half of $250,000. This claim of itself is amply sufficient to save the Government from any loss. We have not the slightest doubt that the Department at Washington, in the language of the saintly Adams, 'will—[illegible], in time, all things right.'

"Up to the present moment, no clue has been discovered as to the guilty party, but public suspicion is unanimous as to the real delinquent. The citizens of Oregon—more particularly those of Astoria and Portland—will hear with feelings of [illegible] regret (?) that Collector Adams has met with his late misfortune. Truly may we exclaim, 'that honesty meets not its own reward.'"

One having seen my humble dwelling in Astoria, would smile at the idea that a building which would probably be erected in San Francisco for $1,500, should be called "palatial." I am entirely too modest and unambitious to admit that I was before aware that I was an "Autocrat" having the Union Conventions and Legislature of Oregon under my control, besides holding in my hands the reins that guide the law-making power of Washington Territory. The News Letter in saying that I have "seized three steamships (in addition to the fines of the officers,") makes two mistakes: It lacks one of giving the whole number of steamers "seized," and mistakes in saying that I have also "seized the fines of the officers." I have this time obtained judgment in the United States Court of Oregon against the "officers," amounting in the aggregate to $22,548 and costs. These judgments were obtained at the hands of intelligent, honest and honorable jurors, under charges as to points of law, from a clear-headed and incorruptible judge. The judgments are now due to the United States, but I have not, as yet, "seized" the money as the News Letter charges, and I am not at all certain that it ever will be "seized." Out of the four steamers seized, the Maria, claimed by Wm L Lubbock, John T Wright and Fleming, the Pacific, Orizaba and Active, all three registered as belonging to the California Steam Navigation Company three have been forfeited to the United States Government The Maria was forfeited by a decree of the United States District Court The Pacific was surrendered by her owners, a forfeiture acknowledged and application was made to the Secretary of the Treasury for release; She is now running under bonds of $225,000. The Orizaba was forfeited both by acknowledgment on the part of her owners, and by a decree of the United States District Court Notice has been filed that application will also be made at Washington for the release of the Orizaba. She is now running under bonds of $120,000 The Active, which I was informed last week by Mr Holliday, is owned in part by him, is now running under bond for $66,000 The law under which these fines and forfeitures occurred, was passed in 1799. It has been held to be good law by Congress, and by every administration since, and if I am not mistaken was adopted by the News Letter man's Congress, which was prorogued by General Grant at Richmond Every Collector has to take a solemn oath to enforce it The owners of several of those vessels, have acknowledged that the forfeitures have accrued under the law, and yet the News Letter calls them 'minor offenses, that in any other port would have been passed without notice.'

The News Letter may understand the true character of Federal officials and the appliances used in reconciling them to flagrant violations of the law in "other ports" better than I, but I know there is one "port" where the majesty of the law will be vindicated while I am entrusted with its execution I may have been, as charged by the Bulletin, too careless with the money, (though I think not), but I am not a criminal The efforts that have been made to crush me by fixing a stain upon my character are impotent and I defy all their power. I have an unfailing faith in God and the ultimate triumph of right My life has been a stormy one I have been battling with corruption in almost every shape for many years yet I did not suppose before that I had an enemy in the world who would say that he believed I would knowingly wrong a single human being out of a dollar, much less that I would be guilty of a crime more dark and damning in my eyes than highway robbery the crime of robbing the Government of funds which I had taken a solemn oath to account for During my brief stay in this city I have passed through the most fiery trial of my life A stranger in a strange land with few to extend the hand of friendship and sympathy failing to meet the evidences of a warm gushing sympathy that swell up from hearts imbued with heavenly charity that thinketh no evil on the part of some from whom I thought I had a right to expect at least a friendly greeting, I have nevertheless found friends men who have honored themselves by their noble conduct and who by their determination and honorable course in relation to my misfortunes have fastened themselves upon my affections as with hooks of steel I shall ever honor them appreciate their magnanimity and kindness and their names shall be known to the world in due time Permit me Mr Editor in conclusion to offer an apology for the length of this article and the earnest and perhaps harsh expressions contained in it, the (to me) mighty meaning of the circumstances that have induced me to say a word in vindication of myself here I have a large family, toward which I stand in the relation of husband father and protector I owe it to my family, I owe it to myself, owe it to my friends everywhere, owe it to the Government and owe it to the cause of humanity and right which I have so long espoused that I see to it that if I am to go down, I go down fighting like a man, and that if I am to be engulphed in the breakers of a foul and black conspiracy, I struggle with the waves in a manner worthy of one who dares to do his duty, one who has hitherto been actuated by an honest desire to do his whole duty as a Government officer, and who still cherishes an unwavering faith in the ultimate triumph of omnipotent right.

Collector of Customs District of Oregon

WHO ARE OUR TRUE MEN?—We take the following from a leading editorial in the Albany Journal of the 2d inst

It has been urged that there is an effort being made by Congress to subvert the Government, and Union men are frantically called to the support of the President and the defense of the Constitution. Who, we would ask those over zealous souls, is endeavoring to ignore or abridge the Constitution? Are nine tenths of the loyal members of the lower House of Congress "Radicals?" Are thirty out of thirty six true and tried Union Senators Radicals? Is Senator Williams a Radical, and tricky J W Nesmith a Patriot? If so, may God deliver the country from such patriots and give us many such Radicals We want no do'ging or double-dealing, if there is an exponent of Union principles in Oregon who desires to stand upon Andrew Johnson as his entire platform, and turn his back upon the overwhelming majority of true men in and out of Congress who differ with the President, let him speak out in plain terms. It will not do to fight the whole Union party over the shoulders of Thad Stevens, Charles Sumner and Wendell Philips Who is Wendell Philips, that his name should be tacked to the action of a loyal Congress? He is simply a private citizen of Massachusetts, entertaining and advocating his own extreme, and, in our judgment, often impractical views on matters of government. Again, we say it is a silly as well as a cowardly dodge to attempt to make loyalty odious by associating the action of Congress with the name of one private individual a thousand miles away from the halls of national legislation We have no fear for the stability of the Union party Summer soldiers and sunshine patriots who have risen to places of honor by loyal votes may desert it; charlatans who have grown fat upon the spoils of office may desert it; the President himself may prove recreant to the high trust reposed in him by a confiding nation; but the loyal people who have given so lavishly of their blood and their treasure to place treason beneath their feet and perpetuate free government on earth, will never desert the glorious standard still wet with the blood of patriots. True Union men need no soul stirring appeals to make them sensible of their duty. They will stand by the Union party regardless of everything except truth and right. No violence has been offered to the Constitution by the loyal Representatives in Congress, on the contrary, the same insidious enemy lately vanquished on the field, aided by designing demagogues whose palms itch for pelf and plunder, are endeavoring to seduce the President from the path of rectitude and duty.

JOSH BILLINGS ON AMERIKANS.—Amerikans love caustick things, they would prefer turpentine to colone water, if they had tew drink either

So with their relish of humor, they must hav it on the half-shell with cayenne.

An Englishman wants his fun smothered deep in mince sauce, and he is willing to wait till next day before he tastes it

If yu tickle or convince an Amerikan yu hav got tew do it quick.

An Amerikan luvs tew laff, but he don't luv tew make a bizziness uv it; he works, eats and haw-haws on a canter.

I gess the English have more wit, and the Amerikans more humor.

We havn't had time, yet, tew bile down our humor and get the wit out uv it.

The English are better punsters, but I konsider punning a sort ov literary prostitushun in which futur happyness is swopped oph for the pleasure ov the moment

There iz one thing I hav noticed; everybody that writes expects tew be wize or witty—so does everybody expect tew be saved when they die, but there is good reason to beleave that the goats hereafter will be in the majority, just az the sheep are here.

Don't forgit one thing, yu hav got tew be wise before yu kan be witty, and don't forgit two things, a single paragraff has made sum men immortal, while a volume has been wuss than a pile-driver tew others—but what would Amerikans do, if it wasn't for their sensashun?

Sumthing new, sumthing startling is necessary for us as a people, and it don't make much matter what it is—a huge defalkashun—a red elefant—or Jersee clams with pearls in them will answer if nothing better offers.—Saturday Press.

TRUE CHIVALRY.—Is the chivalry of South Carolina dead? Has it been laughed or lashed out of existence? On the contrary, we trust that it has only been purified by the trials through which it has passed, and that it is now about to assume another and better form There is no denying that it needed a transfiguration of some sort With all its real nobility of impulse and purpose, it had its ludicrous and unworthy side It was brave, but it was boastful, it was generous but it was narrow minded; it did not understand that "pride, however disguised in its own majesty, is littleness," and it, therefore not seldom tripped over its own enormous self conceit. Nevertheless, the metal of which it was once composed was genuine, and it ought accordingly to have been rather tempered than injured by the fire into which it was lately plunged. If this has been the case, its value as an element in the character of the people will be at once humbler and higher than it was of yore. Perhaps we have already seen the evidence of some such change in the patient fortitude with which the inhabitants of the State have endured their past misfortunes and in the calm defiance with which they look forward to the difficulties of the future. But the results that we hope for, most especially, are yet to be developed We desire to see the people realize the fact that they are standing upon the threshold of a world in which the truest chivalry will be to go bravely to work with hand or head The knight of the nineteenth century is he who believes in the nobility of labor —Charleston South Carolinian

THE LOUISIANA CODE —The code adopted by the Legislature of Louisiana for the regulation of free labor on the plantations, is inhuman, and a disgrace to the men who enacted it It compels all freedmen to make contracts within the ten days following the first of January, and such contracts must be made for the whole year The provisions, so far as the freedmen are concerned are very oppressive It ignores completely the freedom of the black man, and hems him in with fines and penalties which executed exclusively at the judgment and mercy of the employer will eat up the entire earnings of the laborer.—Chicago Republican

WALLA WALLA ITEMS —The Statesman of the 2d inst furnishes the following items

A gang of workmen left here a day or two since for the Pen d Oreille Lake where they are under engagement to complete the work on the steamer being built for Messrs Moody & Davidson It is designed to have the boat completed and in running order before the close of April

Some fifty passengers reached here last evening from Wallula The great majority of them are bound for Montana and came to Walla Walla for the purpose of buying animals and generally procuring outfits The influx of so many strangers naturally causes business to stir and gives trade a healthy appearance

The boats of the O S N Company are now making tri weekly trips to Wallula

The Huntsville (Ala) Advocate states that all the real and personal property of C C Clay has been libelled by the United States District Attorney for confiscation.

SOUTHERN TENETS —A correspondent of the New York Nation who made the tour of the South on commercial business, gives the following as the result of his observations

It may as well be understood by the Northern people first as last that a genuine loyal Union sentiment as it is felt and recognized in the North is almost entirely unknown at the South In individuals there are without doubt, who sincerely acknowledge the benefits resulting from the Union of these States but the great body of the Southern people at the present time regard the national authority as an usurping military tyranny It will scarcely, I think, be denied by any disinterested and unprejudiced observer of the popular feeling as it exists in the Southern States to say that so general and all pervading is the hatred and distrust at present existing among Southerners of all classes against men of the North, particularly against all persons born or educated in the New England States, that although aside from this fact and the general insecurity of life and property at the South, the inducement to invest capital is very great, yet, under the circumstances no Northern man would be justified in giving up a permanent and profitable business at the North in the hope of securing a larger return for his money by investing it at the South Whenever the inhabitants of the Southern States shall have realized sufficiently the great change that has taken place in the nature of their institutions and the character of their labor and consent to receive emigrants from the North with courtesy and good will, instead of suspicion and dislike—whenever they shall be willing to lay aside their foolish and unworthy jealousy and give the "Yankee" fair play and extend to him the right hand of fellowship then, and not till then will Northern men and Northern capital be justified in seeking a field for industry and for investment at the South At the present moment so far is this from being the case, that in the interior of the cotton States a man had better hail from the State Prison than from Yankeeland Threats are freely uttered as to what methods will be resorted to rid them of all "abolitionists" when the military shall have been withdrawn and I state a fact that any Northern gentleman of "radical" sentiments who has ventured among the Southern people since the conclusion of the war will confirm, when I say that it is hardly more safe to differ in opinion from the prevailing Southern idea of the incapacity of the negro to day than before the war Any man who expects to go South and be able to express his opinion in favor of negro suffrage, and the right of the black to political equality with the whites, will be disappointed The presence of the United States troops may protect him in the large towns and cities, but his life will be imperilled wherever his sentiments are known and the protection of the military is withdrawn.

ORIGINAL LETTER FROM BYRON —The Los Angeles (Cal) News says

We have been shown by a gentleman of this city the manuscript of a letter in the hand writing of England's great poet, Lord Byron It was written in Venice, and bears date April 27, 1819. It is addressed to the editor of Galignani's Messenger requesting him to contradict a statement in its former issue, wherein Byron was accused of having written the Vampyre, while a resident of Mity Lane. The paper on which it is written and the wafer with which it was sealed, are of the quality which were used at that period, and they bear all the marks of antiquity. The letter contains the usual number of erasures and interlineations which characterized nearly all of Lord Byron's epistles The fac simile of this letter is contained in some editions which we have seen of the author's works. Any one who has ever seen specimens of the chirography of this erratic but gifted genius, will not doubt the genuineness of the copy we have before us In looking upon it, we can almost imagine we see the handsome author, pen in hand, and "the live thunder leaping" as he writes Genius is immortal If the art of printing is preserved, 5,000 years hence Lord Byron will be as fresh in the memory of the living as he is at this day Those who are fond of preserving rare relics should negotiate for this letter.

WHY PETROLEUM V NASBY LEFT WASHINGTON —Yet ez much ez I love Washington I was forced to leave it I mite hev stayed there, but the truth is the planks uv that city and the pavements are harder and worse to sleep on than those uv any other city in the United States. I hed lived two months by passin myself off ez a dimekratic congressman, but that cood only last a short time, there not bein many of that persuasion here to personate I hed gone the rounds uv the houses, ez often ez it wuz safe, and one nite commenced on the senit. Goin' into Willards I called for a go uv gin, wich the gentlemanly and urban barkeeper sot afore me and I drank. "Put it down with the rest uv mine," sez I, with an impressive wave uv the hand

"Yoor name," sez he

Assoomin a intellectooal look I fotorted,

"Do you know Charles Sumner?"

Here I overlid it—here vaulting ambition o'erleaped herself Had I sed "Salisbury," it mite have ansered but to give Sumner's name for a drink uv gin, wuz a peace of lunacy for which I can't account, I was ignominiously kicked into the street Drinks obtained at the expense uv bein kicked, is cheap, but I don't want em on them terms—my pride revolted, and so I emigrated.

617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of those horrible life-destroying maladies and that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places He therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emission, the consequence of self-abuse This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

The Robbery of Mr Adams.

We copy from the S F. Flag the following letter from Mr Adams, giving an account of the late robbery of the Government funds which were under his care

OCCIDENTAL HOTEL, SAN FRANCISCO,
February 22 1866

MR. EDITOR —It is now twelve days since I reached this city having been robbed on board the steamship Oregon of $20,500 in United States gold coin, which I had collected on imports in the District of Oregon and which in accordance with instructions from the Department in Washington I was bringing to deposit with the Assistant Treasurer in San Francisco The money was taken from my trunk in my state room, the thief entering my room during my absence for a short time, by unlocking the door and entering my trunk by prying a portion of the bottom and unlocking the trunk, as I suppose, by pushing the bolt of the lock back with his fingers, as I afterwards learned from the detectives could be done My room I found locked as usual, and the cord around my trunk properly tied I had no suspicions that my trunk had been disturbed till I arrived at the Russ House very soon after the landing of the Oregon, and opened the same to deposit the money in a safe, when I discovered, that out of $17,500 in gold, $4,717 in greenbacks $33 in demand notes, Government money in my trunk, besides some currency belonging to me, of which I had no memorandum of the precise amount, $20,500 in gold had been taken I immediately notified the Police Detectives, and have since been engaged in rendering every assistance in my power to enable them to ferret out the guilty parties. Shocked and mortified as I was on discovering the loss of the money, I very soon learned that I was to suffer a still sorer punishment, as I and some of my friends were not long in discovering that a powerful influence was set on foot in a short time after the robbery became public, to create the impression that I was a villain and had not been robbed of a dollar. The magnitude of that influence, the untiring zeal with which it hunted me down, and its success in doing me mischief, has been abundantly shown by the remarks that have been made by certain parties on the streets, by the uncandid, uncalled for and unjust articles which have appeared in one of the prints of this city, and a villainous libelous editorial in another. If those men had desired to know the truth, they could have obtained it from the detectives, who were the only parties except myself and those who committed the robbery, who have the means of knowing to a certainty that the robbery was actually committed. The detectives Capt. Lees, Ellis, and Watkins could have told them, as they have often told me and several prominent and worthy men of this city and of Oregon, that they had arrived at evidence during a most thorough investigation that "proved beyond all possibility of a doubt that the robbery was committed," as I alleged. Some of these men have assured me and others that they were just as well assured from what their investigation has developed, that I had been foully robbed, as though they had seen the robbery committed. These men have been forced into the belief by examining the whole case in the face of an influence that has failed to extort a condemnation of me from that quarter. Yet I find the Alta after having published an exceedingly uncandid article in relation to the robbery on the 11th inst., speaks of it yesterday as "the robbery—if any was ~~o~~ 'lifted.'" The News Letter of the 17th has a characteristic article which it seems to me a rather injudicious for an editor who has, an earnest desire to benefit those under whose table he is allowed to gather crumbs. He discourses as follows:

"The detectives find that Adams is more prudent with his private funds, a certificate of deposit or some other evidence for $20,000 by draft through Richards & McCraken in his favor, evidently showing that Adams was providing for a rainy day, etc."

I have no idea it will be any new information to this poor devil, but it may be to the public, to state that these drafts on the Bank of California belonged to the Government, and that the money was drawn and deposited with Mr. Cheeseman at the earliest possible moment after my arrival—Detective Watkins at my request, going with me, both to the bank and to the Assistant T[illegible]. In publishing the following, I think Whitney's successor did so without having duly weighed the effect upon the cause he seems so zealous to promote the interests of:

"From all that we have heard, Adams is quite able to reimburse the Government. His residence in Astoria is palatial for that webfoot section, being commodious; the architecture unique; the painting in keeping with the quiet style of its occupant; the doors red with green borders, the grounds ornamented with the fountain that lately graced the plaza, showing that brother Adams is not without refinement. The various occupations of collector, Adams, as a doctor, school teacher, politician, and, at present, collector, speaks volumes for the versatility of his genius. He is the Admiral of Astoria; the Republican conventions, members of the Legislature, are all under his control; not even the daring and weather-beaten pilots of the Columbia river bar are beyond his reach. His genius has extended to an affray with the Washington Territory Legislature, where he had an Act passed, taking away from the pilots the right to pursue their profession to the detriment of the navy men of Astoria.

"As an intensely loyal man, brother Adams is [illegible]. As a Collector of the Customs none so watchful, vigilant and vigilant. During his incumbency of four years he has seized three steamships (in addition to the fines of the officers) for minor offenses, that in any other port would have been passed without notice. Not being satisfied with the seizure of the steamers, his loyal heart warms with the discovery that the company owning the steamers are [illegible], and to this effect he writes to the Secretary of the Treasury. For all this zeal of Brother Adams, should the Secretary put the slightest confidence in his report, he will realize the insignificant sum of the half of $800,000. This of itself is amply sufficient to have the Oregon stolen from any loss. We have not the slightest doubt that the Department at Washington, in the language of the saintly Adams, 'will make, in time, all things right.'

"Up to the present moment, no clue has been obtained as to the guilty party, but public suspicion is unanimous as to the real delinquent. The citizens of Oregon—more particularly those of Astoria and Portland—will hear, with feelings of sincere regret (?) that Collector Adams has met with his late misfortune. Truly may we exclaim, 'that honesty meets not its own reward.'"

One having seen my humble dwelling in Astoria, would smile at the idea that a building which could probably be [illegible] in San Francisco for $1,200, would be called "palatial." I am entirely too modest and unambitious, to admit that I was before aware that I was an "Autocrat" having the Union Conventions and Legislature of Oregon under my control, besides holding in my hands the reins that guide the law-making power of Washington Territory. The News Letter in saying that I have "seized three steamships (in addition to the fines of the officers,") makes two mistakes: It lacks one of giving the whole number of steamers "seized," and mistakes in saying that I have also "seized the fines of the officers." I have judgments obtained judgments in the United States Court of Oregon against the "officers," amounting in the aggregate to $22,545 and costs. These judgments were obtained at the hands of intelligent, honest and honorable jurors, under charges as to points of law, from a clear-headed and incorruptible judge. The judgments are now due to the United States, but I have not, as yet, "seized" the money as the News Letter charges, and I am not at all certain that it ever will be "seized." Out of the four steamers seized, the Maria, claimed by Wm. L. Lubbock, John T Wright and Manning, the Pacific, Orizaba and Active, all three registered as belonging to the California Steam Navigation Company, three have been forfeited to the United States Government The Maria was forfeited by a decree of the United States District Court. The Pacific was surrendered by her owners, a forfeiture acknowledged and application was made to the Secretary of the Treasury for release. She is now running under bonds of $225,000. The Orizaba was forfeited, both by acknowledgment on the part of her owners, and by a decree of the United States District Court Notice has been filed that application will also be made at Washington for the release of the Orizaba. She is now running under bonds of $120,000 The Active, which I was informed last week by Mr Holliday, is owned in part by him, is now running under bond for $66,000. The law under which these fines and forfeitures occurred was passed in 1799. It has been held to be good law by Congress, and by every administration since, and if I am not mistaken was adopted by the News Letter man's Congress, which was prorogued by General Grant at Richmond. Every Collector has to take a solemn oath to enforce it The owners of several of these vessels, have acknowledged that the forfeitures have accrued under the law, and yet the News Letter calls them 'minor offenses, that in any other port would have been passed without notice."

The News Letter may understand the true character of Federal officials and the appliances used in reconciling them to flagrant violations of the law in "other ports" better than I, but I know there is one "port" where the majesty of the law will be vindicated, while I am entrusted with its execution. I may have been, as charged by the Bulletin, too careless with the money, (though I think not), but I am not a criminal The efforts that have been made to crush me by fixing a stain upon my character are impotent and I defy all their power. I have an unfailing faith in God and the ultimate triumph of right My life has been a stormy one, I have been battling with corruption in almost every shape for many years yet I did not suppose before that I had an enemy in the world who would say that he believed I would knowingly wrong a single human being out of a dollar, much less that I would be guilty of a crime more dark and damning in my eyes than highway robbery the crime of robbing the Government of funds which I had taken a solemn oath to account for During my brief stay in this city I have passed through the most fiery trial of my life A stranger in a strange land with few to extend the hand of friendship and sympathy failing to meet the evidences of a warm, gushing sympathy that swell up from hearts imbued with heavenly charity that thinketh no evil, on the part of some from whom I thought I had a right to expect at least a friendly greeting, I have nevertheless found friends men who have honored themselves by their noble conduct, and who by their determination and honorable course in relation to my misfortunes have fastened themselves upon my affections as with hooks of steel I shall ever honor them appreciate their magnanimity and kindness and their names shall be known to the world in due time Permit me Mr Editor, in conclusion to offer an apology for the length of this article, and the earnest and perhaps harsh expressions contained in it, the (to me) mighty meaning of the circumstances that have induced me to say a word in vindication of my self here I have a large family, toward which I stand in the relation of husband, father and protector I owe it to my family, I owe it to my self, owe it to my friends everywhere owe it to the Government and owe it to the cause of humanity and right which I have so long espoused that I see to it that if I am to go down, I go down fighting like a man, and that if am to be engulphed in the breakers of a foul and black conspiracy, I struggle with the waves in a manner worthy of one who dares to do his duty, one who has hitherto been actuated by an honest desire to do his whole duty as a Government officer, and who still cherishes an unwavering faith in the ultimate triumph of omnipotent right.

Collector of Customs District of Oregon

WHO ARE OUR TRUE MEN?—We take the following from a leading editorial in the Albany Journal of the 2d inst:

It has been urged that there is an effort being made by Congress to subvert the Government, and Union men are frantically called to the support of the President and the defense of the Constitution. Who, we would ask these over zealous souls, is endeavoring to ignore or abridge the Constitution? Are nine-tenths of the loyal members of the lower House of Congress "Radicals?" Are thirty out of thirty six true and tried Union Senators Radicals? Is Senator Williams a Radical, and tricky J. W. Nesmith a Patriot? If so, may God deliver the country from such patriots and give us many such Radicals. We want no dodging or double-dealing, if there is an exponent of Union principles in Oregon who desires to stand upon Andrew Johnson as his entire platform, and turn his back upon the overwhelming majority of true men in and out of Congress who differ with the President, let him speak out in plain terms. It will not do to fight the whole Union party over the shoulders of Thad Stevens, Charles Sumner and Wendell Philips. Who is Wendell Philips, that his name should be tacked to the action of a loyal Congress? He is simply a private citizen of Massachusetts, entertaining and advocating his own extreme, and, in our judgment, often impractical views on matters of government. Again, we say it is a silly as well as a cowardly dodge to attempt to make loyalty odious by associating the action of Congress with the name of one private individual a thousand miles away from the halls of national legislation. We have no fear for the stability of the Union party. Summer soldiers and sunshine patriots who have risen to places of honor by loyal votes may desert it, politicians who have grown fat upon the spoils of office may desert it; the President himself may prove recreant to the high trust reposed in him by a confiding nation; but the loyal people who have given so lavishly of their blood and their treasure to place treason beneath their feet and perpetuate free government on earth, will never desert the glorious standard still wet with the blood of patriots. True Union men need no soul stirring appeals to make them sensible of their duty. They will stand by the Union party regardless of everything except truth and right No violence has been offered to the Constitution by the loyal Representatives in Congress; on the contrary, the ever insidious enemy lately vanquished on the field, aided by designing demagogues whose palms itch for pelf and plunder, are endeavoring to seduce the President from the path of rectitude and duty.

JOSH BILLINGS ON AMERIKANS.—Amerikans love caustick things; they would prefer turpentine to colone-water, if they had tew drink either

So with their relish of humor, they must hav it on the half-shell with cayenne.

An Englishman wants his fun smothered deep in mince sauce, and he is willing to wait till next day before he tastes it.

If yu tickle or convince an Amerikan yu hav got tew do it quick.

An Amerikan luvs tew laff, but he don't luv tew make a bizziness ov it; he works, eats and hawhaws on a canter.

I guess the English have more wit, and the Amerikans more humor.

We haven't had time, yet, tew bile down our humor and get the wit out ov it.

The English are better punsters, but I konsider punning a sort ov litterary prostitushun in which futur happyness is swopped oph for the pleasure ov the moment.

There is one thing I hav noticed; everybuddy that writes expects tew be wize or witty—so does everybuddy expect tew be saved when they die, but there is good reason to beleave that the goats hereafter will be in the majority, just az the sheep are here.

Don't forgit one thing, yu hav got tew be wise before yu kan be witty, and don't forgit two things, a single paragraff has made sum men immortal, while a volume has been wuss than a pile-driver tew others—but what would Amerikans do, if it wasnt for their sensashun?

Sumthing new, sumthing startling is necessary for us as a people, and it don't make much matter what it is a huge defalkashun—a red elefant—or Jersee clams with pearls in them will answer if nothing better offers —Saturday Press.

TRUE CHIVALRY.—Is the chivalry of South Carolina dead? Has it been laughed or lashed out of existence? On the contrary, we trust that it has only been purified by the trials through which it has passed, and that it is now about to assume another and better form. There is no denying that it needed a transfiguration of some sort: With all its real nobility of impulse and purpose, it had its ludicrous and unworthy side It was brave, but it was boastful, it was generous but it was narrow minded; it did not understand that "pride, however disguised in its own majesty, is littleness," and it, therefore not seldom tripped over its own enormous self conceit. Nevertheless, the metal of which it was once composed was genuine, and it ought accordingly to have been rather tempered than injured by the fire into which it was lately plunged. If this has been the case, its value as an element in the character of the people will be at once humbler and higher than it was of yore. Perhaps we have already seen the evidence of some such change in the patient fortitude with which the inhabitants of the State have endured their past misfortunes, and in the calm defiance with which they look forward to the difficulties of the future. But the results that we hope for, most, especially, are yet to be developed. We desire to see the people realize the fact that they are standing upon the threshold of a world in which the truest chivalry will be to go bravely to work with hand or head The knight of the nineteenth century is he who believes in the nobility of labor —Charleston South Carolinian.

THE LOUISIANA CODE.—The code adopted by the Legislature of Louisiana for the regulation of free labor on the plantations, is inhuman and a disgrace to the men who enacted it It compels all freedmen to make contracts within the ten days following the first of January, and such contracts must be made for the whole year The provisions, so far as the freedmen are concerned are very oppressive It ignores completely the freedom of the black man, and hems him in with fines and penalties which, exacted exclusively at the judgment and mercy of the employer will eat up the entire earnings of the laborer.—Chicago Republican

A gang of workmen left here a day or two since for the Pen d'Oreille Lake where they are under engagement to complete the work on the steamer being built for Messrs Moody & David son It is designed to have the boat completed and in running order before the close of April

Some fifty passengers reached here last evening from Wallula The great majority of them are bound for Montana and came to Walla Walla for the purpose of buying animals and generally procuring outfits. The influx of so many strangers naturally causes business to stir, and gives trade a healthy appearance,

The boats of the O S N Company are now making tri weekly trips to Wallula

The Huntsville (Ala) Advocate states that all the real and personal property of C C Clay has been libelled by the United States District Attorney for confiscation.

SOUTHERN TEMPER.—A correspondent of the New York Nation who made the tour of the South on commercial business, gives the following as the result of his observations

"It may as well be understood by the Northern people first as last that a genuine loyal Union sentiment as it is felt and recognized in the North is almost entirely unknown at the South Individuals there are without doubt, who sincerely acknowledge the benefits resulting from the Union of these States but the great body of the Southern people at the present time regard the national authority as an usurping military tyranny It will scarcely I think, be denied by any disinterested and unprejudiced observer of the popular feeling as it exists in the Southern States to day that so general and all pervading is the hatred and distrust at present existing among Southerners of all classes against men of the North, particularly against all persons born or educated in the New England States, that although aside from this fact, and the general insecurity of life and property at the South, the inducement to invest capital is very great, yet under the circumstances, no Northern man would be justified in giving up a permanent and profitable business at the North in the hope of securing a larger return for his money by investing it at the South Whenever the inhabitants of the Southern States shall have realized sufficiently the great change that has taken place in the nature of their institutions and the character of their labor, and consent to receive emigrants from the North with courtesy and good will, instead of suspicion and dislike—whenever they shall be willing to lay aside their foolish and unworthy jealousy and give the 'Yankee' fair play, and extend to him the right hand of fellowship then, and not till then will Northern men and Northern capital be justified in seeking a field for industry and for investment at the South At the present moment, so far is this from being the case, that in the interior of the cotton States a man had better hail from the State Prison than from Yankeeland. Threats are freely uttered as to what methods will be resorted to rid them of all "abolitionists" when the military shall have been withdrawn and I state a fact that any Northern gentleman of "radical" sentiments who has ventured among the Southern people since the conclusion of the war will bear me when I say that it is hardly more safe to differ in opinion from the prevailing Southern idea of the incapacity of the negro to day than before the war Any man who expects to go South and be able to express his opinion in favor of negro suffrage, and the right of the black to political equality with the whites, will be disappointed The presence of the United States troops may protect him in the large towns and cities, but his life will be imperiled wherever his sentiments are known and the protection of the military is withdrawn.

ORIGINAL LETTER FROM BYRON.—The Los Angeles (Cal) News says

We have been shown by a gentleman of this city the manuscript of a letter in the hand writing of England's great poet, Lord Byron It was written in Venice, and bears date April 27, 1819. It is addressed to the editor of Galignani's Messenger requesting him to contradict a statement in its former issue, wherein Byron was accused of having written the Vampyre, while a resident of Hilty Lane. The paper on which it is written, and the wafer with which it was sealed, are of the quality which were used at that period, and they bear all the marks of antiquity. The letter contains the usual number of erasures and interlineations which characterized nearly all of Lord Byron's epistles The fac simile of this letter is contained in some editions which we have seen of the author's works. Any one who has ever seen specimens of the chirography of this erratic but gifted genius, will not doubt the genuineness of the copy we have before us In looking upon it, we can almost imagine we see the handsome author, pen in hand, and "the live thunder leaping" as he writes. Genius is immortal If the art of printing is preserved, 5,000 years hence Lord Byron will be as fresh in the memory of the living as he is at this day Those who are fond of preserving rare relics should negotiate for this letter.

WHY PETROLEUM V NASBY LEFT WASHINGTON —Yet ez much ez I love Washington I was forced to leave it. I mite hev stayed there, but the truth is the planks uv that city and the pavements are harder and worse to sleep on than those uv any other city in the United States. I had lived two months by passin myself off ez a dimekratic congressman, but that could only last a short time, there not bein many of that persuasion there, to personate. I hed gone the rounds uv the house, ez often ez it wuz safe, and one nite commenced on the senit. Goin' into Willards I called for a go uv gin, wich the gentlemanly and urban barkeeper set afore me and I drank, "Put it down with the rest uv mine," sez I, with an impressive wave uv the hand.

"Yoor name," sez he.

Assoomin a intellectooal look I retorted,

"Do you know Charles Sumner?"

Here I overdid it—here vaulting ambition o'erleaped herself. Had I sed "Salusbury," it mite have ansored; but to give Sumner's name for a drink uv gin, wus a peace of lunacy for which I can't account. I was ignominiously kicked into the street. Drinks obtained at the expense uv bein kicked, is cheap, but I don't want em on them terms—my pride revolted, and so I emigrated.

Bryan W. Proctor, better known as "Barry Cornwall," is preparing a "life of "Elia." Mr. Proctor is now over seventy-eight years old, having been born in 1787. He was a schoolmate of Lord Byron and Sir Robert Peel, at Harrow.

LEFFEL'S
American Double Turbine Water Wheel

IS NOW MANUFACTURED BY THE OREGON IRON Works, in the city of Portland, and orders for the same can be filled immediately We have a small supply of the different sizes from 10 inches to 48 inches in diameter. That we may know the proper sized wheel you require, measure your water in the following way: Take the width of the stream, the average depth, and the distance it flows in a minute.

All the wheels now in use give universal satisfaction, Both the construction of the wheel and its performance, commend it to the better judgment of all who are capable of appreciating the highest development of mechanical construction. Therefore it has conquered the most violent opposition.

This wheel is especially adapted to mining purposes. It is light, and can be easily packed into the mountains Wheels weighing from 100 to 300 pounds will yield from 10 to 40 horse power, under a head of 25 or 80 feet. They are the cheapest wheel to set up known, as they are so arranged as to produce the greatest power possible from the water used

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene, Let patients, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co,
